

Newton

A font by Brian M Zick

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz

The three friends walked down the sidewalk, laughing and talking. Suddenly, without warning, or any apparent reason, Olea screamed. The boys look around in fear. Where was she... Alistair turned to face his friend, terror filling his eyes. Philip was gone. Alistair stood alone on the concrete, wishing to scream, but his mouth wouldn't let him. The boy took a single step forward. His world turned black.

The three friends walked down the sidewalk, laughing and talking. Suddenly, without warning, or any apparent reason, Olea screamed. The boys look around in fear. Where was she... Alistair turned to face his friend, terror filling his eyes. Philip was gone. Alistair stood alone on the concrete, wishing to scream, but his mouth wouldn't let him. The boy took a single step forward. His world turned black.

The three friends walked down the sidewalk, laughing and talking. Suddenly, without warning, or any apparent reason, Olea screamed. The boys look around in fear. Where was she... Alistair turned to face his friend, terror filling his eyes. Philip was gone. Alistair stood alone on the concrete, wishing to scream, but his mouth wouldn't let him. The boy took a single step forward. His world turned black.

The three friends walked down the sidewalk, laughing and talking. Suddenly, without warning, or any apparent reason, Olea screamed. The boys look around in fear. Where was she... Alistair turned to face his friend, terror filling his eyes. Philip was gone. Alistair stood alone on the concrete, wishing to scream, but his mouth wouldn't let him. The boy took a single step forward. His world turned black.